

HORIZON

This is one of the highest yielding potato varieties with figures in excess of 75 tonnes p.h. noted in commercial crops.

It possesses excellent drought tolerance and is highly resistant to blackleg and powdery scab.

It produces uniform round tubers suitable for crisping and is being used for the table in export markets.

A starch content in excess of 16% make it an excellent choice for the starch industry.

Low nitrogen and drought tolerance make it very environmentally friendly, with very low production costs.
